

Urner Barry will issue a formal correction for its proprietary market coverage under the following circumstances:

Price assessment error: an assessed price that has been published incorrectly due to a typographical mistake or an error of calculation. Price assessment errors must come to light within one month of publication for a correction to be issued.

Factual error: a statement published in a commentary or market overview that is determined to be erroneous. Please note that Urner Barry may amend typographical or grammatical errors or insert missing words without issuing a correction, but only if the amendment does not have a material impact on the meaning or the reader's likely interpretation of the statement. A decision may be taken not to issue a correction if the erroneous content is deemed to be too old or insignificant to make a correction worthwhile.

Technical error: an error resulting from a malfunction in any system used to produce or distribute Urner Barry content.

Price assessments are made based on the best information available at the time. No correction will be issued on the basis of information that is received after publication, or is subsequently amended, elaborated on, or corrected by the source.

Urner Barry does not consider that a subscriber's disagreement with the information published or the judgement applied to it, or with the interpretation of the methodology, constitutes evidence that a mistake has been made, and no correction would be issued on this basis.
